THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINATION.

The nomination yesterday afternoon of Alderman James Church for the Assembly, by the Democratic Convention of the Second District, was not altogether a surprise. He had been around among his friends for several days, talked the matter over, laid his plans, made a careful survey of the field, and at last carried the Convention on the first ballot by a good majority. Not every man in the Democratic party in Janesville, could have worked so quietly, easily, and successfully, as did Mr. Church, for the nomination. He counted his friends before he went into the Convention, and when he knew he had twenty-one out of thirty-five delegates, he made a strike, and captured the prize. Mr. Church is an intangible worker, a shrewd canvasser, and in certain directions, is personally very strong. The Democratic party has probably sounded timber out of which to make a Legislature, but it was not available, at least the convention could not reach it. A goodly number of the Democrats urged the nomination of a gentleman of some legislative experience, one who could wield a marked influence on the floor of the Assembly as well as on the Committees, and who, in a short time, would like rank among the leading members of the Legislature. They desired to follow the wise example of the Republicans, but their plans were thwarted and their hopes blasted, and as a matter of course they are not enthusiastic in an important degree over the result of the contest.

The nominations of both parties have been made. The candidates are well known to the people, and any comparison would be idle. It is very evident that it will require a prophet to conjecture the result of next Tuesday's work. But in order to win, the Republicans must be up and doing, labor earnestly, and utilize all their forces. The interests of the city of Janesville, and of the towns joined with it in the District, demand the election of Mr. Lovejoy. As a clean cut representative of the business intelligence of the District, he stands among the first, and in addition to this, he will make an honorable, influential, and successful member of the Legislature of 1879.

THE IOWA MUDDLE.

There seems to be a disposition on the part of the Democrats in Iowa to hold another Congressional election on the fifth of November. They don't claim that the election on the 8th of October was unconstitutional, but inasmuch as the constitution is hardly clear as to what time the election may be held, and the Republicans having determined to abide by the result on the 8th, the Democrats favor another election, at which none but Democrats will be put in nomination, and they feel assured that the persons so elected to Congress would be admitted to the Democratic House, and the Republicans displaced. This would be a high-handed piece of work, but not more revolutionary, infamous, or high-handed, than the work of the Democratic House of Representatives last winter. The Confederate Congress is desperate, and will not hesitate to resort to the most extreme measures to unseat Republicans and put Democrats in their place. The better element of the Democratic party in this State and in Iowa, does not favor such a partisan scheme, one which would finally, as it did in Colorado, condemn the party to death.

Secretary McCarty, has given it as his opinion, that the elections on the 8th is constitutional, but admits that this would not bar the House, if it were Democratic, from unseating the Republican candidates already elected. He thinks the difficulty could have been avoided, had the proper steps been taken, and this could have been done in either of the following ways:—All candidates might have signed a pledge to Corn in fair demand; cash No. 2, 34 cents; No. 3, 33 1/2 cents; December, 33 1/2 cents.

Barley—Active; Extra No. 3 cash, 55 1/2 cents; November, 55 1/2 cents.

FOREIGN.

Special to the Gazette.
St. Petersburg, Oct. 31—It is announced to-day that definitive peace is prevented by the diplomatic maneuvers of the European Powers. An armistice is ruinous to Russian interest, and a revival of war is preferable.

LONDON, Oct. 31—The cabinet council has decided to require a strict observance of the Berlin treaty; also an ultimatum will be sent to the Ameer. Pending the reply it has been decided to prosecute vigorous military precautions. It is said that General Tchernoff and many better officers have tendered their services to Russia to serve in Afghanistan against England. The English troops in India have been mostly ordered to Afghanistan.

BERLIN, Oct. 31—Marl Bismarck, only daughter of Prince Bismarck, will be married on Christmas to Count Rautzen at Varzin.

WASHINGTON.

Special to the Gazette.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 31—The German-American Savings bank has closed its doors. A large crowd of excited depositors surrounded the building.
General Holbert E. Paine, formerly of Milwaukee, and ex-member of Congress, has accepted the position of Commissioner of Patents.

RANDALL.

The Speaker Working Hard to Retain His Seat in Congress.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 30—Speaker Randall has offered free transportation to Philadelphia to any person who will vote for him.

OBITUARY.

FORT ATKINSON, Wis., Oct. 30—Rev. J. Britton, a former pastor of the Universalist church of this place, and the present grand worthy chaplain of the Masonic order of the State of Wisconsin, died at his home in this city to-day of a fever. He will be buried on Friday next.

TILDEN'S INCOME.

The Proceedings Against Tilden Concerning His Income.
PITTSBURGH, Penn., Oct. 30.—In the United States Circuit Court, before Commissioner Gamble, the case of the United States against Samuel J. Tilden, of New York, was reached this afternoon. A number of railroad officials have been subpoenaed to testify in regard to Mr. Tilden's income from railroads in this vicinity. The only witness examined to-day was Mr. F. M. Hutchinson, secretary and treasurer of the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Railroad, who testified that between the years 1871 and 1873, $50,000 had been paid Mr. Tilden for professional services rendered in that line. He also testified that Mr. Tilden had from time to time sent different sums of money here to be invested in railroad enterprise, and that dividends had been sent him from this city. The amount of investment and dividends could not be definitely stated without reference to the books. At the conclusion of Mr. Hutchinson's testimony, the cause was adjourned until to-morrow morning.

CATHOLICISM.

Apostolic Delegate to Canada and the United States.
DUBLIN, Oct. 30.—Dr. Gillooly, Roman Catholic Bishop of Elphin, has been appointed by the Pope to the high position of Apostolic Delegate from the Holy See to Canada and the United States. His jurisdiction will extend to the Catholic clergy of the United States, as in the case of his predecessor, Dr. Conroy. Dr. Gillooly has been for some years Bishop of Elphin, and is distinguished from his fellow Bishops in Ireland by his activity and energy.

The appointment of a successor to Cardinal Cullen is a subject of much speculation, not alone in Ireland, but in Great Britain, and it will be judged from a political as well as from a religious standpoint. The clergy of the archdiocese have not yet spoken. They must, according to custom, nominate three candidates, classed, respectively, as Dignus, Dignior, and Dignissimus, before the Pope makes his final choice. He may take one of the three named by the clergy, or he may reject all three and select the Cardinal's successor from some other diocese, or from some of the religious orders, as was so frequently done by the late Pope. In any event the appointment will probably indicate the political course the present Pope intends to follow in Ireland, and will determine the attitude of the Irish people toward the Vatican.

THE Y. M. C. A.

Annual Meeting of the State (Christian) Associations.
WHITEWATER, Oct. 30.—Associations at the following places are represented by delegates: Oshkosh, Milwaukee, Racine, Milton, Fort Atkinson, Wauwatosa, Beloit, Madison, Janesville, West Depece, Waterville. The afternoon session opened by prayer and praise meeting followed by Bible reading conducted by C. D. Ingersoll, of Cleveland, taking for his topic "God's Words." The same brother also answered inquiries and perplexing questions propounded by members relative to the best plans and most approved methods of conducting the Young Men's Christian Association. The evening session was a devotional meeting conducted by Rev. G. C. Smith, of Waterville. "How to use the Bible for our own growth and usefulness" was opened by Rev. D. E. Haltman, of Delavan. The question was treated at length and in an able manner, showing that the excellence of a thing was no guarantee against its abuse by holding up some of the common errors employed by many in the use of the book, the greatest gift of God to man. That enlightenment, reform and fruits coming from its teachings could only be made welcome to our hearts by a firm and persistent heart searching after its truths instead of purely intellectual study.

CARPENTER.

The Ex-Senator will Speak in Milwaukee for Honest Money.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 30.—It is announced that Matt Carpenter, who returned home Washington Monday, will make a speech at the Republican meeting called at the Second Ward Tuna Hille to-morrow evening. The premonition is added that he will take the hard side of the money question. The announcement has created something of a local political sensation, as Carpenter has before been understood to be inclined to soft money. Edward Sanderson will also speak at the same meeting, and speeches in German will be made by United States Marshal Fink and Col. Charles Wedelstedt. Carpenter, Sanderson and Fink will also speak at a Republican meeting at the North Side Turn Halle Friday evening.

THE SILVER MARKET.

The Bids to Furnish the Government with Silver Bullion.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The Secretary of the Treasury to-day opened bids for supplying 400,000 ounces of fine silver recently given, inviting proposals every week. The offers will not be made public, no matter whether the bids are accepted or not. The amount purchased was less than 400,000 ounces, and the price paid ranged from one quarter to one half cent below the London rate, but it is claimed the Government has an abundant supply for present demands. Dealers said that the refusal to publish the bids defeats the establishment of a silver market in this country.

DANIEL WEBSTER'S WIDOW.

The Recently Old Lady of 80 Whom a Reporter Discovered.

From the New York Star.
A dainty blue cap, with fluttering ribbons, worn by a white-haired woman, caught the eye of a reporter yesterday as he was passing the broad portico of the Leroy mansion in New Rochelle, on the Sound. Something in the face beneath the cap arrested attention. Bright hazel eyes contrasted strangely with the snowy ringlets of hair and the pale, almost expressionless cast of features. Evidently, a woman of advanced age, yet a graceful form, slightly above the medium height, made the possessor look lately in her old age.

"Who is that queenly old lady?" was asked of a gardener working near by. "Mr. Webster, sir; the widow of Daniel Webster."

The widow of Webster. Seated alone, at the age of 78, within twenty miles of the great, stirring metropolis, a link between the busy present and the dead, historic past.

"Can you oblige me with an introduction, sir?" asked the reporter of Mr. William Leroy, who at that moment appeared on the ground.

"With great pleasure," returned the proprietor. "But," he added, "I am afraid she cannot converse much. Her mental faculties are so impaired that she is hardly cognizant of her surroundings, while the past is a total blank."

The reporter was presented to the lady, who received him with courtly grace. Chairs were provided on the elegant little piazza, and a pleasant half hour was spent in conversation.

"I am so glad you have come," was Mrs. Webster's first remark. "I know you admire flowers. Are they not pretty? Mrs. Woolbert has such a delightful little place, too. The prospect from my window would be better than this if there were not so many flowers."

"Do you read much now, Mrs. Webster?" queried the reporter.

There was no answer to this question, but simply a puzzled look. She turned appealingly to her relative.

The question was reiterated by Mr. Leroy, who at the same time picked up a newspaper from the floor. Then a look of intelligence lighted up the troubled face as she exclaimed, "Oh, yes; I read it through nearly every day."

Caroline Leroy, the second wife of Webster, was married to the great expounder in the city of New York early in 1847, and was constantly with him until his death, on October 23, 1852. Mr. William Leroy and a brother living in Newport, R. I., are the only remaining members of the family.

Laws One Hundred Years Ago.

In 1770, an act was passed by the English Parliament, which provided: "That all women, of whatever age, rank or profession, whether virgins, maids or widows, who shall, after this act, impose upon, seduce and betray into matrimony any of His Majesty's subjects, by virtue of scents, paints, cosmetics, washes, artificial teeth, Spanish wool, iron stay, bolstered hips, or high-heeled shoes, shall incur the penalty of the law now in force against witchcraft and like misdemeanors, and the marriage under such circumstances, upon conviction of the offending party, shall be null and void."

Though Shaking Like an Aspen Leaf

With the chills and fever, the victim of malaria may still recover by using the celebrated specific, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which not only breaks up the most aggravated attacks, but prevents their recurrence. It is infinitely preferable to quinine, not only because it does the business far more thoroughly, but also on account of its perfect wholesomeness and invigorating action upon the entire system. Testimony is concurrent, positive and ample showing the decisive nature of its effects, and that it is no mere palliative. Physicians concede its excellence, and there is a constant influx of communications from persons in every class of society avouching its merits, and bearing witness to its superiority over other remedies for malarial diseases. It is especially popular throughout the West, wherever fever and ague prevails, as it does in many of the fairest and most fertile portions of that vast region.

Cost in Time and Material of Killing a Cat.

It requires ten well-directed blows with an ordinary boot-jack to kill the average cat, and at the distance of one foot the chances are ten to one that you will miss the cat. If you don't believe it, try it. Secure the cat by a string one foot long, so as to give the cat plenty of play, and after a week's practice you will consider this a scant estimate for the cat. Therefore, at the distance of one foot it will require 1000 boot-jacks.

But your chances of killing the cat decrease as the square of the distance increases. This is an axiom in natural philosophy and a fundamental truth of felology. Therefore, at the distance of ten feet it will require 10,000 boot-jacks.

Again, the force of the projectile decreases as the square of the distance increases. Ten squares equal 100, 10,000 equal 1,000,000, equals the number of boot-jacks on this count.

But then the darkness of night decreases the chances of a fair hit ten to one. Hence at night, it will require 10,000,000 boot-jacks.

Fourthly, the tom-cat being black, decreases the chances twenty to one, according to the well known rule of optics. Fourth count, 200,000,000.

At this stage of our solution we will leave the domain of science and draw a couple of logical inferences. First, after a man has buried 1,000,000,000 boot-jacks he will be old, and very feeble. We have no means of knowing how much his projecting force would decrease or his aim fail. But at a very fair allowance the chances from these causes would decrease in the ratio of 100 to 1. Count fifth, 20,000,000,000.

It is true that 20,000,000,000 boot-jacks thrown around promiscuously might afford the cat almost invincible shelter, but to save paper, we will suppose this to diminish the chances only as ten to one. Count six and answer, 200,000,000,000.

It is true the man might improve in his aim, but the cat would improve equally in his dodging. Now, suppose Adam to have thrown, on an average, 500 per day. This is a liberal estimate when we make no allowance for Sundays, "bums," mending his breeches, blowing up Eve, etc. He would have a job of 1,056,230 years. At present the cat would be 186th dead. Or, suppose the weapons to contain one square foot of inch pipe, and six eight penny nails. The lumber, third class, would cost $38 per 1,000 feet, or $5,200,000,000. The nails, 15,400,000,000 pounds at 3 cents per pound would cost $462,000,000.

These figures are startling. If ever a tomcat is killed, it is by a special intervention of Divine Providence.
